

Exercise: who vs whom

Instructions : In this exercise, choose between the words “who” and “whom” to fill in the blank in each sentence.

1. To _____ should I address this letter?
2. _____ did you invite to the party?
3. The detective, _____ I trust implicitly, is on the case.
4. _____ is responsible for this mess?
5. The student _____ you recommended for the scholarship has been accepted.
6. _____ should I ask for help when I need it?
7. The manager, _____ we met yesterday, seems very competent.
8. _____ are you planning to nominate for the leadership position?
9. I wonder _____ she chose as her dance partner.
10. The woman, _____ I assumed was the manager, was very helpful.
11. _____ did you meet at the conference last week?
12. The doctor, _____ I consulted about my health concerns, was very knowledgeable.
13. _____ should I trust in this situation?
14. _____ should I contact if I have questions about the project?

Answers

1. To whom should I address this letter?
2. Who did you invite to the party?
3. The detective, whom I trust implicitly, is on the case.
4. Who is responsible for this mess?
5. The student whom you recommended for the scholarship has been accepted.
6. Whom should I ask for help when I need it?
7. The manager, whom we met yesterday, seems very competent.
8. Who are you planning to nominate for the leadership position?
9. I wonder whom she chose as her dance partner.
10. The woman, whom I assumed was the manager, was very helpful.
11. Who did you meet at the conference last week?
12. The doctor, whom I consulted about my health concerns, was very knowledgeable.
13. Who should I trust in this situation?
14. Whom should I contact if I have questions about the project?